

Protecting a Legacy; Promoting the Arts

Artist(s) Exhibition Proposal Form

The Oxford Community Arts Center is a 19th century building originally built as the Oxford College for Women. The 1990's saw the beginning of a collaborative community project to restore the structure of the building to protect the history and to create within the walls a center for visual and performing arts.

The Oxford Community Arts Center is committed to exhibiting diverse forms of art, particularly from local and regional artists. Artist's exhibitions, by both individuals and collectives, are selected annually by the gallery committee. We invite you to participate in this endeavor and to consider submitting the following proposal.

Originality is of the highest priority and suitability for the space will be considered. The Oxford Community Arts Center's exhibition space consists of three main areas: Gallery - 41 linear ft.; Hall - 86 linear ft. and the South Parlor - 41 linear ft.
